

hi this is AJ with another effortless english podcast so today is monday and i'm here in san francisco i'm back in san francisco last week we were in texas we were at a teaching conference and the leader of the teaching conference was blaine ray and first i just want to say some nice things about blaine ray because he's a super nice person is a fantastic teacher he's a great teacher trainer he really helps teachers become better and better and i went to mow i went and kristin when and joe went we all learned a lot we will all improve our teaching as a result of going to the conference so thank you blaine ray you are great see the next thing that happened last week was that our computers crashed oh no oh no yes our website crashed so what happened first we got too many visitors we got a lot of traffic people watching the videos and trying to comment all suddenly same time so that crashed our site or website went down but you know that's okay that's not a terrible problem usually you can recover quickly but the next problem was that our backup file or website backup had a problem the website host blue host poor terrible don't use them blue host their backup file was bad it had some it was corrupt is what they say but it basically had some problems it was broken a little bit so we could not get the website up again quickly finally or a computer engineer his name is vic medcath you worked hard work the word trying to talk to blue host again and again finally he got a good backup file then we moved everything to new computers new servers and a new web host everything expensive high quality and professional so now we are ready for a lot of traffic suddenly and that's good because power english is coming soon are one day only sale unfortunately we must change the date again right.

We were hoping for tomorrow but because our website crashed last week we need to delay power english just one more week so the new date the final date though one day only sale for power english is now august fourth august for that's next tuesday august fourth one day only power english sale now to get power english you must be on my email list you must join the seven rules email course because what happens at twelve o one am just after midnight in new york city that's new york city time i will send an email the everybody in the seven rules email list that actually will be almost one million people because our friends christian and joe they're also sending emails so anyway you will get an email and it will have a link inside click the link the link will go to the power english sale page then you just click that big red button it'll say by lessons now it's cetera click that read by you get power english so if you don't know about power english then you probably are not on my email list and don't worry about it you're fine you can just listen to my podcast too late for me to tell you everything about powering was now so but if you are wanting bauer english than you need to be on my email list and you probably brought probably already are okay so anyway so august fourth it's only one day and only fifteen thousand copies we're limiting the number of lessons on august fourth to just fifteen thousand i think probably most of those will be gone quickly in a few hours so if you really want power english i recommend that you open your email immediately at twelve o one am just after midnight just you know midnight you have august third eleven fifty nine then midnight becomes august fourth in new york city check your email that's when the email will come and that's when you can get power english okay so enough for that what else am i doing so i just finished doing some videos because we lost of a little bit of work a little bit from the website crashed just three days.

So today i have been making videos and doing some work to recover what we lost and then later tonight actually we are going to see harry potter controlling to see the new harry potter movie it will be kristin and todd my good friend todd i don't know joe is going to go the you guys know christians from learn real english part is just a good friend of ours and of course to my way and i were all going to see the new harry potter movie yea and you know i have never read the harry potter books to i don't know what happens in this story so the movies are fun for me when the new movies come i really i have no idea what's going to happen though i enjoy it maybe someday i'll read the books so again anyway that's it i guess that's the big update so the computers are working again we have a totally new system very professional and expensive unfortunately but that's okay very professional we are ready for a lot of traffic now we're growing fast and now we're ready we were ready for almost one million people possibly to come and try to get power english our english the one day only sale is now august fourth next tuesday new york city time it's just after midnight twelve or one am just after you know it just when august fourth begins the first minute that's when powering with starts check your email then and finally we're going to see harry potter tonight okay well as always you can check my twitter page for daily adios every day i do a short audio sometimes more that's twitter dot com slash aj hogue a j h o g e if you're on facebook you can also find us on facebook search for effortless english on facebook we have an effortless english facebook page to so you can see videos i do videos almost every day on facebook and of course keep checking the the podcast here so i hope you're enjoying all this english keep listening he's smiling keep enjoying your english learning to you again by by
